Mandatory Lobbyist Training

Section 5-205(e) of the State Ethics Law requires the Ethics Commission to provide a training course for regulated lobbyists and prospective regulated lobbyists at least twice each year regarding the provisions of the Maryland Public Ethics Law relevant to regulated lobbyists. The Law also requires regulated lobbyists to attend the training at least once in any two-year period during which a lobbyist has registered with the Ethics Commission. The BASIC TRAINING covers the Public Ethics Law including the lobbying registration, reporting and conduct requirements. The ADVANCED TRAINING is for individual lobbyists who have had the basic training and will address selective topics and any changes in the Law.
